Reds Submit Own Plan On Cease-Fire

Similarity to U.N. Version Brightens Armistice Hopes

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 21 — (AP) - Truce hopes brightened today when Communist negotiators submitted a cease-fire plan of their own that could open the way for a Korean armistice by Christmas.

It was similar to a United Nations plan for creating a buffer zone along the present fighting line to take effect if an armistice is signed within 30 days.

A U.N. command communique referred to the resemblance as superficial.

But the command's official spokesman, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, said if the Red plan "means what we think it means x x x then I think we are very close to solution" of the buffer zone question.

The point in doubt was whether the Communist proposal means "that troops will be withdrawn from the buffer zone after an armistice is signed" as the U N has proposed.

After the Communists submitted their counterproposal at Panmunjom at Wednesday's two-hour truce session, Allied negotiators tried to determine whether the Reds contemplated an immediate or delayed withdrawal from a buffer zone to be created along the present front.

At the close of the session Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, heading the U.N. subcommittee, told the Red delegates "we will present you with the necessary revisions to clear up this proposal" at Thursday's meeting. It is set for 11 a. m. (9 p.m. Wednesday EST).

Red Attack Fails On Central Front

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 21—(AP) - United Nations forces today threw back the Reds' strongest attempt to halt an Allied line-strengthening drive on the central Korean front. The U.N. push has gained nearly five miles since Saturday.

The Republic of Korea (ROK) Sixth Division stopped counter-attacks by elements of two Red battalions. The South Koreans had the support of a tremendous artillery barrage.

An Allied officer said, "We clobbered the hell out of them all night. Without the artillery the Reds could have made it hard on the ROKs."

11 Korean War Brides Flying To U.S. Homes

TOKYO, Nov. 21—(AP)—Eleven shy and excited Asiatic war wives left tonight for strange new homes in the United States with the American soldiers they married in war-battered Korea.

Ten are Korean nationals. The other is Chinese, born in Peiping but a resident of Seoul since 1946.

Korean-American babies accompanied three.

The 11 families left on a military air transport plane for a 36-hour flight via Honolulu to San Francisco.

The wives were shyly hopeful of the future. They were neatly dressed in new tailored suits and blouses.

U.S., British In Accord On Fleet Command

ROME, Nov. 21—(AP)—Britain today was reported ready to agree to appointment of an American admiral to command the West's naval forces in the Atlantic.

A qualified informant said the British concurrence was made possible by agreement of the NATO military committee, meeting here, on the exact responsibilities of the Atlantic naval commander and also on the establishment of a new English Channel commander under a British admiral.

Tax Probers Looking Into New Charges

Committee Head Steps Aside After Influence Is Rumored

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—(AP) —A House ways and means committee was called into session today to weigh a report on its inquiry into rumors that its chairman, Rep. King (D-Calif), once sought to influence tax cases.

King has denounced the rumors as "malicious and false" and directed his subcommittee to investigate them thoroughly. While it did so, he turned the chairmanship over to Rep. Combs (D-Texas).

The group heard nearly a dozen witnesses, during two days of investigation, and wound up the inquiry late last night. It issued no statement, but its chief counsel, Adrian Dewind, told newsmen:

"Relevant testimony to the allegations of tax case mishandling x x x will be released in verbatim form in conjunction with a report."

The subcommittee, which has been inquiring into the widening reports of irregularities and scandals in the nation's tax collection service, meanwhile received possible grist for its mill from newspapers in two cities.

Papers Hurl Charges

In St. Louis, both the Post-Dispatch and the Globe-Democrat charged that Ellis N. Slack, acting head of the Justice Department's tax division, sought to interfere with a grand jury inquiry into tax fixing there.

It was that grand jury which indicated James P. Finnegan, former St. Louis collector of internal revenue, on charges of bribery and other misconduct in office.

Attorney General McGrath named Slack as acting head of the tax division, which handles prosecution of tax cases worked up by the Internal Revenue Bureau, after Theron Lamar Caudle resigned last week at President Truman's request. Slack was formerly chief of the appellate section in the tax division.

Looking For Leak

In San Francisco, the Examiner reported that "someone high in Washington" has ordered an investigation inside the internal revenue office there to find out "Who let the cat out of the bag."

San Francisco collector James Smyth and six of his aides have been suspended on charges of incompetency and two other employes have been fired outright.

The Examiner quoted Charles E. Davies, San Francisco head of the Treasury Department's intelligence unit, as saying he "received orders to conduct such a probe and accordingly set up such an assignment." He would not elaborate.

She was found innocent because of insanity and was sent to the Lima hospital until it is established her reason has been restored. The writ was filed with the Third Circuit Court of Appeals. Dr. R. E. Bushong, hospital superintendent, testified by deposition at the trial he believed Miss Thomas was sane.

Missing U.S. Plane Sought

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Nov. 21—(AP)—Hungary and Romania complained officially today that a United States Army cargo plane —still missing after being fired on by the satellite border guards Monday—crossed over their territories illegally.

Notes were presented to the American missions in Budapest and Bucharest, even as U. S planes prepared to search over Yugoslavia for the missin C-47 transport, which disappeared Monday with four crewmen and diplomatic cargo aboard.

The two cominform countries maintain a tight control all along their borders with Yugoslavia.

The notes were presented after American inquiries were made concerning the whereabouts of the plane, whose pilot had radioed his base at Munich Monday afternoon that he had been fired upon by the border patrols of the two countries and had turned back westward.

The pilot's reports, as disclosed by the U. S. Embassy in Belgrade, did not mention any damage from the shooting.

Missing Union Co. Girl Found At Wyandot Co. Home

A Union County girl missing since Saturday was found in Wyandot County Tuesday, Sheriff Walter Galloway of Union County reported today.

The girl, 16 years old, told Galloway she had gone with a 17-year-old Union County youth she had known for some time to visit friends after attending a dance in Richwood Saturday night.

She was found at the home of relatives of the young man's near Marseilles Tuesday afternoon.

Authorities in Union, Marion, Wyandot and other area counties had been looking for the girl after her parents became alarmed when she did not return from the dance.

Information police received led to fears of possible kidnaping or foul play.

The girl and her companion were returned to Union County Tuesday night.

Set Korea Casualties At 100,000

Pentagon Tabulates U.S. Losses in 16 Months of Fighting

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—(AP) The 100,000th American has been killed or wounded or is missing in Korea.

This mark is recorded and passed in the Defense Department's weekly summary of combat casualties issued today. Since this official report now runs about two weeks behind the battle action, it covers 16 months of fighting

American families have been told of some 22,000 casualties among their men since Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway offered to talk about an armistice on June 30.

About seven out of every ten American battle losses have been suffered since the Chinese Reds poured across the Manchurian border into the then virtually-won Korean battlefield a little more than one year ago.

Includes Missing

The 70,000 U. S. casualties reported since the Chinese entered the war include nearly 8,000 of the 12,500 Americans listed at one time or another as missing in action. The missing figure has been reduced to a current total of around 10,800. Among these are the some 5,500 Americans reported by Col James M. Hanley, chief of the war crimes section of the U. S. Eighth Army in Korea, to have been killed by their captors. General Ridgway has—without using figures—authenticated Hanley's report. But the general said the deaths have been reported to the families concerned.

Approximately half of all U. S. casualties in Korea have occurred since the bitter retreats and rear guard withdrawals of last winter and during the series of Red spring offensives and U.N. counter blows which have moved the battle line back to the center of Korea.

For the Army and the Navy, the Korean conflict has been the fourth costliest in U. S. history, ranking in human casualties after World War II, the Civil War and the first World war.

Marines Hit Hardest

Current Korean Marine Corps losses of over 16,000 make this undeclared war more costly in killed and wounded than all the wars, campaigns and expeditions which the Leathernecks fought from the Revolution until the start of World War II.

The records show that proportionately fewer Americans have been reported missing in Korea than during World War II.

The ratio of those killed and dead of wounds likewise is lower than it was during the last war. About 12.5 per cent of the total U. S casualties in Korea fall in the missing column. In World War II, the percentage was 18.5.

About 17 out of every 100 Americans who have appeared on Korean casualty lists were killed in action or died of their wounds. In World War II, which lasted nearly four years, the ratio was 21 out of every 100.

In 16 months of fighting in Korea, American combat losses have exceeded the 59,000 suffered from Pearl Harbor through the end of 1942 in the last conflict It was not until well into 1943 that U. S. casualty totals in World War II reached the 100,000 mark.

The total for that year, which saw bitter fighting in the southwest Pacific, in North Africa and at other spots around the world, was 91,000.

Taft Gives Quick Reply To Truman's Defense of Party

Scoffs At Charges Of GOP Lies

Deserves Prize For Political Effrontery, Says Senator

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—(AP) —Republicans replied with more "corruption" charges today to President Truman's assertion that the Democrats won't take lying down the "lies and smears" he said he expects in the 1952 presidential campaign.

Mr. Truman told an audience of party members here last night he thinks more money will be spent "in trying to defeat the Democratic party next year than has ever before been spent in any election in the history of country."

His declaration that "the truth and the facts are on our side" brought a retort that Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) that "President Truman should certainly get the prize for political effrontery" for his speech.

Guy G. Gabrielson, chairman of the Republican national committee, said Mr. Truman had "a flash of realism" when he said "a mistake in a presidential election can cause the country untold harm."

"The reminder isn't necessary for millions of Americans," Gabrielson said. "They are disgusted and alarmed at the high taxes, high prices, corruption, crises and war of his incompetent administration. They won't make the mistake again."

Without naming the senator, Mr. Truman singled out Taft with the assertion that "special interests" had poured money into Ohio last year to reelect the Republican.

Blast From Taft

Taft, an avowed candidate for his party's presidential nomination, said in a statement in Cincinnati that "it is the Truman party which is the beneficiary of the money of special interests and of millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money used for political propaganda x x x."

"The head of an administration which has condoned Communism, immorality and corruption and does not even bother to deny the proven charges, talks of the great moral position of his administration in the world," Taft continued.

"He talks of a bipartisan foreign policy, although he was the man who plunged the country into the Korean war without consulting either the Republicans or Congress."

Taft said the CIO and AFL had undertaken to raise $30,000,000 from union members "to purge all Republicans from Congress." He said Republicans legitimately spent money to meet this attack, adding:

"If Mr. Truman can ever receive 70,000 competely voluntary and unsolicited contributions of $1 each, as I did in 1950, his talk about special interests would not ring so false."

Mr. Truman, who planned to return today to Key West, Fla., to resume his interrupted vacation, outlined for his party at a banquet of the national women's Democratic club last night the kind of a campaign he said it must make next year.

He pictured it as a slugging battle against well-heeled Republicans who could be expected to put on a "dirty smear campaign."

Forecast

The President forecast a Republican attempt to buy the presidency with excessive campaign spending, asserted that "misrepresentation can be expected to reach new heights" and cautioned that if the GOP chooses to make foreign policy an issue it will be "overwhelmingly repudiated by the people."

"I do not expect the Democratic party to take that kind of attack lying down," he declared as listeners applauded.

"I do not expect my party to run away from a fight," he said, adding: "It never did and it never will."

Santa Claus To Arrive Here Friday

To Marion Chamber of Commerce:

GREETINGS again to all in Marion!

I was so happy to receive your letter telling about your plans for Friday's Christmas parade. It certainly sounds as though Marion has the real Christmas spirit just as we have here at the North Pole.

I'm looking forward to "The Christmas Story," as told by the holiday parade, and to riding through Marion in the special float constructed for me. Hope to see all the grownups and kiddies at the parade.

Such hustle and bustle up here — you should see — and all sing "Jingle Bells" as we complete our plans for the best Christmas of all.

So Merry Christmas everybody, and I'll arrive in Marion about 1 p. m. Friday in time for the parade. So watch for me!

Yours Truly,

Edison Y-Teens Hear Talk On Dressing

The question "What Is a Well-Dressed Girl?" was answered for Y-Teen Club members of Edison Junior High School at an assembly held Tuesday after school. N. M. Trivax, manager of Kline's Department Store, answered the question before about 120 club members, parents and faculty members.

With Miss Helen Hagerty, chief cashier at Kline's, as model, Mr. Trivax stressed color combinations and appropriateness of dress for the occasion.

"Regardless of what you wear," he said, "color harmony is important. Wear color combinations that blend and don't shout at each other."

Miss Hagerty modeled sport dresses and cocktail dresses. Mr. Trivax said "dressy" dresses are out of place in the classroom and that sport dresses are appropriate for school wear or casual dates.

He suggested that bluejeans not be worn to school, slave sweaters and skirts and blouses and skirts are much more feminine. Skirt combinations, he added, are practical and lend variety to the school girl's wardrobe.

Tuesday's program was held in conjunction with the Y-Teen Club's theme for the year, "Growing Up Gracefully." The program was arranged by Carol Gleaton, program chairman, with the help of Mrs. Thelma Jacobs, Miss Virginia Frazel and Mrs. M. A. Hendel, club faculty advisors.

Mr. Trivax was presented with a cake at the end of the program from the Y-Teen Club.

Taft

air the question whether he will run again. But he seemed to indicate that if he doesn't, he fully expects to have the determining voice in naming the Democratic nominee.

Mrs. Truman, who had a lot to do with making the presidential date for the banquet meeting, laughed with the crowd as the President said:

"I am not going to make any announcement about who the candidate will be, although I do have some ideas on the subject."

Mrs. Truman has been credited with urging the President to retire when his present term expires.

The President approached his 1948 "give 'em hell" campaign form as he virtually dared the Republicans to make an issue of foreign policy. He said some GOP members "want to play with dynamite" in that manner.

"But we can meet this issue if it comes," he declared. "This is a warning: If the Republicans do make foreign policy an issue in the campaign, it will be the best issue the Democratic party has. We can stand on our record in foreign policy and our achievements in the struggle for peace."

Mr. Truman ignored charges made against officials of his administration in connection with government loans and the internal revenue bureau scandals. Some Republicans have contended the Democrats will talk about foreign policy in an effort to soft pedal domestic difficulties.

Mr. Truman's line was to attack the methods the Republicans have used and to accuse them of distorting facts. He said "special interests" will pour plenty of money into such efforts in 1952.

"There will be loud Republican voices trying to destroy our faith in ourselves and in our present course of action as a nation," he declared. "There will be a deliberate attempt to misrepresent the basic facts.

"The bitter, partisan, backward-looking 'old guard' will try to belittle our progress and prosperity at home."

Turnpike Hits Snag

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—(AP)—Ohio's proposed turnpike hit a new snag Tuesday—and it may take a special session of the legislature to remove it.

The investment firms who were supposed to put up the money for the $300,000,000 toll road across northern Ohio said there is a defect in the turnpike law, and they couldn't put up the money unless the law is changed.

They said the law fails to give the turnpike commission power to take immediate possession of property for right-of-way. The commission would have to wait until condemnation actions finally are decided.

The investment firms said the delays could be "interminable and expensive" because of appeals to higher courts.

Otherwise, they said, the turnpike is sound financially.

Turnpike commission chairman James W. Shocknessy said the only answer to the objection is to amend the law—unless Ohio wants to wait until the regular session in 1953. Construction of the turnpike was supposed to start early next spring.

He pleaded guilty on arraignment in Municipal Court today.

Francis William Kelly, 41, of Edison was arrested on Mt. Vernon Ave. at 1:40 a.m. today charged with speeding. He pleaded guilty in Municipal Court and was fined $15 and costs.

Blood Plasma Strike Averted

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21—(AP)—Ratification of a new contract by union chemical workers has averted a strike which threatened drastically to slow down the flow of blood plasma to the armed forces in Korea.

Herbert Heath, president of Local 86, United Chemical Workers (CIO), said only 75 of the 975 members were absent from the meeting and that those attending voted unanimously for the agreement with Sharp & Dohme, Philadelphia pharmaceutical firm. The agreement was perfected earlier in Washington during a 16-hour meeting with arbitrators.

The strike, scheduled to start last midnight, would have halted the processing of the vital fluid at the company's nearby West Point, Pa., plant. This plant supplies about one-fourth of the plasma sent to the armed forces.

Pact Allies After More U.S. Funds

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—(AP)—An urgent request from France for fast dollar assistance from the U. S. today heightened the possibility that the administration may ask Congress early next year for a special foreign aid appropriation.

Britain is in about the same economic plight as France. In fact, almost all this country's European allies were described by authorities as requiring considerable help to maintain their defense production and their scheduled contributions to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's western European military force.

Officials told newsmen that within the next few days the U. S. government will probably make a final decision on how much help the French need. Estimates range from 200 million dollars to 400 million dollars. That would be direct assistance aside from the dollars the French may earn from American troops stationed in their country and from American expenditures for military installations there.

Bucyrus Controls Truck Traffic In New Ordinance

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Nov. 21—An ordinance confining truck traffic to federal and state highways within Bucyrus was passed here last night by City Council.

The ordinance provides that trucks may use other streets and alleys within the city only when it is necessary for delivery or pick-up of goods or persons.

Violation of the ordinance provides for a fine of not more than $50.

The ordinance was passed to prevent further damage to the city's streets by trucks, which have been bypassing the main highways in favor of less-traveled sidestreets, city officials said.

Mayor Frank P. Sitler told council that request for installation of a traffic light at the intersection of Plymouth and Lane Sts. near Lincoln grade school has been taken under consideration by the municipal traffic commission.

Request for the light was filed with council recently by the Parent-Teacher Association at Lincoln School.

The mayor said the traffic commission is making a city-wide study of traffic conditions in school areas and is expected to recommend some means of traffic control at its December meeting.

U.N. Peace Mission Fails In Palestine

PARIS, Nov. 21—(AP)— The United Nations Palestine conciliation commission announced today its failure to settle Arab-Israeli differences.

The commission said it had called off the fruitless talks begun here Aug. 10 because neither party showed willingness to make concessions.

The group — made up of representatives of the United States, France and Turkey — now is drafting a report of its failure to the General Assembly. It then will be up to the assembly to decide whether the commission should be liquidated or continued in existence.

The three-man commission notified both Israel and the Arab governments, which have been consulting with it, that wide differences between the two sides made it useless to continue negotiation efforts at this time.

Seek $50,000 For New State Board On River Pollution

COLUMBUS Nov. 21 (AP) - A new force in Ohio's battle to clean up its stream was at work today—handicapped somewhat by a need for cash to begin immediate operations.

The new force, the Water Pollution Control Board authorized by the legislature held its second session Tuesday with its chairman, Dr. John D. Porterfield, state health director.

Porterfield has asked the State Board of Control for a $50,000 emergency appropriation to run the board for the remainder of the fiscal year. The board of control has the matter under consideration.

Until the board's budget is approved, only tentative action can be taken to set up a permanent organization. One tentative action taken Tuesday was to authorize Dr. Porterfield to employ a public relations director at a salary of $525 monthly.

The director will take over the educational campaign planned by the board in its work against stream pollution. An engineer-secretary, G. A. Hill, has been employed (pending budget approval) to direct activities and plan the program.

Dictators

But the constant stream of news pouring in from all parts of the world is much harder to discredit. Any news item suggests a comparative judgment in the mind of the reader, or reassures his innermost yearning for liberty.

* * *

ACCURATE news is the terror, the dreaded demon of present-day dictatorships. Among an oppressed people, under the yoke of a police state, the course of events can be halted by courageous reporting which, even though indirectly, reflects symptoms of discontent. News lets them realize that many privileges, denied to them, are normal and usual among other peoples, close at hand or far away.

Whereas adverse editorial comment used to be the target of suppression, now the aim is to suppress news. Totalitarians are infuriated by their inability to control the exchange of information between countries having a free press. The police state vainly attempts to replace independent news services with 'official' propaganda agencies, although its fictional news cannot gain acceptance beyond the area under direct control.

Democratic governments do not need ministries of information or official news services. For present-day dictatorships, they are indispensable. All ministries must depend on a central information bureau, which measures out eulogies, exaggerates or minimizes events, releases doctored news, compels silence on unpleasant facts. Thus the information bureau tries to control all activities, even in art or commerce. Nothing that happens in the country escapes the fine government sieve.

The newspaper which best informs the public enhances its reputation as its circulation increases. The reliability of its news content strengthens its editorial worth, which in turn is reaffirmed by its independence. Such a newspaper is the greatest target for the venomous barbs of those who preach totalitarianism.

Thus are summarized some of the ideas and principles that we painstakingly learned and persistently practiced. While we were so engaged, we were gradually being deprived of our freedom, until it was snatched away entirely.

Our experience is a tragic lesson for America, the continent of freedom. I believe we must bear in mind this eternal truth—when liberty is lost, it must be regained. While you have it, you must defend it.

No one knows what the most distant star is. With the new telescope at Mt. Palomar Observatory, clusters can be seen that are a billion light years away.

Through the SPORTSCOPE with A.L. McCLAIN

BG'S BONNY BOY. Comes a time of the year which is known around the sports desk as the "All-American Hour."

It's a time when the three wire services and various magazines and groups send along ballots for our nomination for the college All-American football team.

Ironically enough, the fellow we tab as the hardest runner seen from the press box this season will not be among our candidates. He is Bowling Green's Fred Durig. BG is too small a school to place a player on the All-American roster, but if some Little All-American ballots come in he will be our first choice.

He is coached, incidentally, by Bob Whittaker who married the former Miss Genevieve Merkle of Marion. Coach Whittaker was a teammate of Paul Brown at Miami.

BY LAND. The hard-running 195-pound fullback was sensational on the afternoons we saw him against Ohio Wesleyan and Kent State.

And records from Sports Publicity Director Don Cunningham show the junior line-smasher has been equally effective in the other Falcon contests.

Against Bradley last Saturday he gained 208 yards in 22 carries and 2 TD's for 1,437 yards in one season. His two-year total is now 1,899 yards and eclipses the previous record of 1,827 set by Jack Woodland over a four-year period.

BG'S FRED DURIG

On the afternoons we saw him he smashed for 170 yards against the Bishops, and 186 against Kent.

Fast for a big man, Durig is used on wide runs as well as up the middle and his terrific driving power usually enables him to fall forward even when three tackles hit him headon.

LOVE WINS OUT. Many observers believe the big Mansfield product could play in any league, including the Big 10, but Coach Bob Whittaker had a helping hand in luring him to the Falcon campus.

She was former Miss Evelo Cates, now Mrs. Durig.

HEISMAN TROPHY. Another ballot came in this week for the Heisman Trophy. Our three top choices in that order were: Fred Benners of Southern Methodist, Vic Janowicz of Ohio State and Bob Carey of Michigan State.

Anyone want to argue?

BOWLING RESULTS

Jack Doyle rolled a 684 series to take series honors in the Mercantile League Monday night at the Marion Recreation Center. Cornelius' 211 captured single game laurels, Hannan's 548 and Sherman's 214 were tops in the Marion Industries Loop. Brady with a 245-578 topped keglers in the Utility League at the Palace alleys while Baker's 207-571 was high in the McMillen Feed Circuit. R. Hartley's 182 and P. Snyder's 493 headed the Ladies' All-Star League. Clark, with a 230-586, took high game honors in the Palace League. Individual scores follows:

Blast Dodgers For Holding Draft Bait

Transfer Prospect From Hollywood To Montreal Club

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—(AP)—A number of major league club owners are blasting the Dodgers for transferring George Schmees, the No. 1 man in the 1951 draft, from Hollywood to the Montreal roster . . . Vice President Buzzie Bavasi counters that it was just good business . . . Instead of selling Schmees for maybe $20,000, they let him go for half that money and "protected" their other good prospects at Montreal . . . Maybe he's right, but we don't see just how that fits into the original idea of the draft—to give the weaker clubs a chance to improve and at the same time to give deserving young players a chance in the majors . . . Bob Baker, the promising Pittsburgh heavyweight who faces Clarence Henry Friday, claims: "I have no idols but myself." . . . What a chance for Clarence to score a double knockout!

RAISING THE DEUCE. A second set of twins was born the other day to Mr. and Mrs. Al Michaels of the Penn State football coaching staff (on Mike's 40th birthday, too) and naturally Al got a bit of ribbing from his associates . . . Mike had one retort ready: "Football coaches have got to expect things like that in this two-platoon age" . . . But Boss Rip Engle, remembering the older twins, said: "Yes, but now you'll be accused of over-emphasis." . . . Rip probably will learn just what over-emphasis is when some joker asks Mrs. Michaels which twin is the offensive one.

CLEANING THE CUFF. The "Special Jumpers" on the Olympic ski team likely will compete at Miami, Fla., in January before heading for Oslo. It would have to be something special—or is that Florida sunshine soft enough to land on? . . . Sam Corenswet, who has sweetened the Sugar Bowl for many years, has shifted his base of operations to Hartford, Conn., and now is merely "eastern representative" for the bowl . . . It was a Big, Little game when Rice played Texas A. and M. Gene Little, Rice offensive guard, was bumping heads with brother Jack, Aggie defensive tackle . . . Tommy (Eastern League) Richardson says he has spent a year lining up "fabulous characters" to provide entertainment at the minor league golden anniversary banquet next month. At the drop of a microphone, Tommy probably will out-character any of them.

Murphy Goes Into Heavier Fight Division

DENVER, Nov. 21— (AP) — Irish Bob Murphy—born Edward J. Conarty and probably known only to his mother by that handle —is setting out to become the second heavyweight champion produced by Colorado.

The other guy from Colorado? Follow by the name of Jack Dempsey. He hailed from Manassa and came to be known as the "Manassa Mauler."

Irish Bob dropped in on the newspaper boys yesterday while here visiting his stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Barnett.

He told them about losing a 15-round decision to light heavyweight champion, Joey Maxim Aug. 22. Bob said he was a little weak from peeling off pounds for the fight.

"When I'm fighting in a lighter weight class I sap all my strength peeling off pounds just before the fight," the rugged Murphy explained.

So, he vowed, from now on he's picking on the big boys exclusively.

Barrel chested Bob of whom it has been said that no fighter ever threw more gloves over 10 rounds, is a husky 198-pound chunk of muscular ambition.

"I'm as big as many heavyweights, and I can punch with them, too," he told his listeners.

"So, since I'm the equal or superior of most of them now, I'm going to fight 'em."

Redmen Take On Tiffin Columbian

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Nov. 21—An experienced Bucyrus High School cage quintet will open its 1951-52 season Tuesday night, Dec 4, when Tiffin Columbian comes here for a non-league tilt.

Coach Richard King, starting his second year as head basketball coach after producing a league championship team last year, has four veterans on his starting five. They include Herb Jones, all-league backfield star the past season, Dan Bumstead, Bill Williams and Floyd "Gitch" Swihart.

Bumstead, Williams and Swihart were regular starters last season with Jones also seeing plenty of action. Missing are two graduates, Norman Smith, the team's high scorer last year, and Carl Griffith.

Shared Title

Last season Bucyrus shared the Northern Ohio League title with Galion. Its season record was 12 wins and five losses, including two losses at the hands of Galion.

This year's schedule includes eight home games and 10 away.

The schedule follows: Dec. 4, Tiffin Columbian; Dec. 7, at Delaware Willis; Dec. 11, at Crestline; Dec. 14, Galion; Dec. 18, at Shelby; Dec. 21, Willard*; Dec. 27, Lorain at Fostoria tourney; Dec. 28, Toledo DeVilbiss at Fostoria tourney; Jan. 4, at Mansfield Madison; Jan. 11, Shelby*; Jan. 15, Kenton; Jan. 18, Crestline*; Jan. 25, at Norwalk*; Feb. 1, at Upper Sandusky*, Feb. 8, Bellevue*; Feb. 15, at Willard; Feb. 19, Mansfield Madison, and Feb. 22, at Galion*. Picks OSU, Wisconsin And Illinois To Win

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

LEXINGTON, Ky, Nov. 21 — (AP)—Trying to pick football winners with one eye on the past performance charts of the various teams, here are Saturday's victors:

Tennessee over Kentucky: The Vols may not be able to shut out the Wildcats for a third straight year but Tennessee has the horses to outscore Kentucky.

California over Stanford: This week's ring-tailed special. Stanford to taste defeat for the first time this year.

Michigan State over Colorado: The No. 2 team in the country smacks down the No. 2 team in the Big Seven Conference.

Maryland over West Virginia: It is as simple as this — Maryland defeated Washington & Lee, 54-14; Washington & Lee, in turn, trounced West Virginia, 34-0. By comparative scores it should be, 88-14.

Illinois over Northwestern: The Illini conquer their jinx team and get plane tickets for the Rose Bowl game all in one rugged afternoon.

Wisconsin over Minnesota and Purdue over Indiana; Wisconsin and Purdue finish their Big Ten schedules with victories but will wind up in that order behind Illinois in the conference standings

Skipping over some others:

Thursday: Xavier over Toledo.

Saturday:

Cornell over Penn, Pittsburgh over Penn State, Cincinnati over Miami, Notre Dame over Iowa, Ohio State over Michigan.

Boxer Critical After Knockout

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 21— (AP)—A young heavyweight boxer was in critical condition in a hospital today suffering from a brain hemorrhage after being knocked out in a boxing bout last night.

Surgeons said an operation may be necessary for the boxer, LaVerne Cole, 24, of St. Paul, Minn.

Cole was knocked out in the fourth round of a preliminary bout by Bunny Roetter, of Stillwater, Minn. Cole was leading on points up to the knockout punch. When he failed to respond, artificial respiration was administered in the ring and he was removed to St. Mary's Hospital.

A rock avalanche recently changed the appearance of Mt. Jefferson, Oregon's second highest peak.

NCAA Seeks To Put Lid On Pressure

CHICAGO, Nov. 21—(AP)—A straight jacket for overemphasis of collegiate sports has been devised by the NCAA policy-making council for national adoption.

Rigid controls that would strengthen academic standards, provide an antidote for professionalism, combat recruiting, and in general, put a lid on pressures to win at any cost, were drafted by the all-powerful council after a two-day session.

The council ordered a moratorium throughout 1952 on contractural commitments for post-season events as bowl games. A special study will be made to determine the degree of pressure post-season sports, especially bowl games, creates in the build up of overemphasis.

A 12-point reform program will be submitted to the NCAA convention in Cincinnati Jan. 9-12.

Hugh Willett of Southern California, NCAA president, said the program has the support of a "substantial majority" of the association's 320 member schools. With this support assured, officials hold high hope of national acceptance.

Sanity Code

A year ago in Dallas, the convention rejected the so-called sanity code, a weapon designed to be used against recruiting and commercialism.

However, in the last year basketball scandals have shocked the country and started a seething undercurrent throughout collegiate athletic structures.

Meanwhile, college presidents—members of a special committee set up by the American council on education—ended their first meeting in Washington, D. C.

Studying what's wrong with sports, they agreed that athletes should not be allowed to take only so-called snap course, that colleges and universities must practice the high principles they preach, and that presidents must assume full responsibility for their athletic programs.

The NCAA council named two main sources for collegiate athletic evils: 1—the undue pressure to win, particularly upon the individual coaches involved; 2—the need for gate receipts from football to finance an adequate athletic program.

Reforms drafted for convention action include:

All financial asistance to be administered or approved by individual institutions. (This would strike at alumni giving under-the-table gifts to star athletes). The penalty would be ineligibility of the athlete.

Confine organized practice sessions in football and basketball to the recognized seasons. If this proposal is not acceptable, limit off-season practice to 20 sessions.

An athlete will be ineligible unless he is admitted in accordance with the regular published entrance requirements of the school, unless he is in good scholastic standing as determined by the faculty, and unless he is maintaining satisfactory progress toward a degree.

Get This: No Star Lineman Listed For OSU, Illini

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—(AP—A guard from the Pacific Coast Conference and a tackle from the Southwest Conference were picked today as the linemen of the week in The Associated Press Poll.

Norman Manoogian, of Stanford's unbeaten Rose Bowl bound team, earned the nod on the offensive side. Big Bill Forester, of Southern Methodist, won defensive honors.

Forester's feat was unusual in that he shifted to fullback on offense and in that position lugged the ball over for 2 touchdowns against Arkansas.

Manoogian was the key man up front in Stanford's victory over Oregon State. His blocking was tremendous.

So many linemen played a whale of a game on both sides in the scoreless Ohio State-Illinois game at Columbus, O. that there was no outstanding individual.

Linemen nominated this week:

Ends—George Norris, North Carolina. Tom Scott, Virginia. Jim Mutscheller, Notre Dame. Bill Glazier, Arizona. Ed Barker, Washington State. Bill Howton, Rice. Stanley Williams, Baylor. Tom Stohandske, Texas. Bill McColl, Stanford.

Tackles—Bill Forester, Southern Methodist. Dick Modzewleski, Maryland. Jim Jerome, Cornell. Bill Pearman, Tennessee. Jim Weatherall, Oklahoma. Morgan Williams, Texas Christian. Bob Werckle, Vanderbilt. Ed. Meadows, Duke.

Guards—Ted Daffer, Tennessee. Harley Sewell, Texas. Norman Manoogian, Stanford. Ray Beck, Georgia Tech. Joe Palumbo, Virginia.

Centers—Dick Szymanski, Notre Dame. Chuck Boerio, Illinois. Larry White, New Mexico.

Bruney "Man" of Distinction

"Fearless Fred" Named Midwest Back of Week

COLUMBUS, Nov. 21—(UP)—They call him "Fearless Freddie" and with good reason—he only weighs 155 pounds, yet he's a rough, tough defensive back for Ohio State's football team.

His heroic performance in helping Ohio State tie Illinois, 0-0, last Saturday won him the United Press Midwest back of the week award today.

Meet Fred Bruney, the smallest man on the Ohio State team.

"Bruney was certainly the most spectacular back on the field Saturday," Coach Woody Hayes said, in agreeing that the award couldn't have gone to a more deserving player.

"He's little, but he doesn't get scared," Hayes said.

Bruney isn't up to the 163 pound weight listed in the program. He's down to about 155 now," Hayes said.

Easily the Hero

Bruney was easily the hero of the exciting contest which saw the Buckeyes mar the unbeaten record of Illinois with a scoreless tie.

Illinois reeled off four first downs the first time it got the ball but then had to punt. They got the ball minutes later and started what looked like a threat until Bruney raced in and intercepted a pass on the Ohio 10-yard line.

That was the first of his three intereceptions. The other two brought louder cheers from the throats of 79,000 fans in the giant horseshoe stadium.

Early in the fourth quarter, with the Illini depending heavily upon the passing of Bob O'Connell, their ace quarterback passer, Bruney broke their hearts again. O'Connell passed for a first down on the Ohio 13 and it looked as if the Illini would make Ohio State their eighth victim. O'Connell fired another pass but Bruney came in from the end zone to grab the ball from the arms of an intended receiver on the one. He carried the ball out to the 25

Threatens Again

Minutes later, Illinois was threatening again. Illinois had been deep in Ohio territory but was forced back with a penalty. O'Connell rifled a long pass but the five-foot, eleven-inch junior from Martins Ferry, O., couldn't haul this one in. He knocked it down and Illinois had to punt.

The ball was changing hands frequently and Illinois again was on the march. O'Connell passed, and again Bruney intercepted the ball to kill the visitor's last hopes of clinching the Big 10 title and the invitation to the Rose Bowl right then and there.

"Bruney wants to play offensive football," Hayes said. "And he will play it for us next year."

Hayes has been sold on the curly-headed halfback all along. "He's got more ambition and determination than any boy on the squad. He'll knock the toughest ones down. He's not afraid of a 225-pounder."

Pleasant Trims Orange, 53-49

Pleasant won its third non-league victory of the early season by trimming Orange, 53-49, last night. J. Viers of Orange took individual scoring honors with 15. Dale Kinsell and Martin of Pleasant each had 12.

Pleasant's reserves dropped their contest, 29-25, in an overtime.

Author-Farmer Speaks at Cardington

Louis Bromfield Hails Morrow Pastures As Best in United States

(Special to The Star)

CARDINGTON, Nov. 21 — The third annual Morrow County Green Pastures program, which has attracted nation-wide attention and has been copied by counties in Ohio and other midwestern states, was held Tuesday night in the Cardington High School auditorium.

Nearly 400 agriculturists and their wives were in attendance and heard Louis Bromfield, Ohio author and farmer, discuss the latest methods of grass farming.

George Jackson, chairman of the board of supervisors of the headwaters soil conservation district in Morrow County and a member of the state advisory council of the agricultural extension service, was in charge of the meeting and introduced Mr. Bromfield.

"This area is a great cattle and sheep country," said Bromfield, who praised the good mineral content of the soil and good drainage, "It's better than anywhere in the United States."

The owner of the Malabar Farms in Richland County, who has contributed much to the nation's agriculture, gave a thorough description of the best grassland farming practice to be found anywhere.

"We took farm lands which eroded, worn out soils, and rebuilt them with good grassland farming practices, so that today we have eliminated all soil erosion, and have heavy sods with deep-rooted grasses, no water run off, land which is even better than heavy forests to hold the surface water."

John Slipher, Ohio State University agronomist, who served as a judge of the Green Pastures contest in which farmers improved their pasture lands with sound conservation practices, announced the winners.

The winners were two brothers from South Bloomfield Township, near Sparta. Kenneth Throckmorton won the Green Pastures improvement division, and Carroll Throckmorton was tops in the achievement division.

Mr. Slipher was assisted by Dr. B. R. Dodds, also of OSU.

Two other southern Morrow County farmers placed second in the two divisions, Don Holland of Lincoln Township and Wilton Carmean of Harmony Township.

Win Certificates

Receiving gold certificates along with the four winners were J. D. Sidwell of Troy Township, Albert Sautter of Washington Township, Paul Kunze of Chester Township, and Ted McClarren of Washington Township.

Silver certificates were given A. E. Anthony, Henry Baker, Dave Cass, Francis Fiant, C. W. Gordon, Tim Hankins, J. D. Kessler, Robert Lawyer, Paul Miller, O. C. Stephens, William Ward, Lowell Bader, Don Cotner, Thomas Gardner, Orval Grove, George Ross, Dean Shipman, Dean Straley and L. M. Penn.

Elwood Davis, founder of the Green Pastures Program, gave a short talk, after which Walter Hudnicott, representing the National Dairy Products Corp. of New York City, presented electric clocks to the four winners in the senior farmer's division.

Promoted by Department

Mr. Hudnicott stated "The Green Pastures Program in Morrow County has been made a symbol of projects and is being promoted by the United States Department of Agriculture. A government commission on grassland farming, a special industrial committee, has thought much of the Morrow County program and feels that it is a unique thing with cooperation of industry, government, city and country people."

"No other group is in a position to make such a contribution to agriculture. Your program is known nationally," Mr. Hudnicott added.

Last year's winners in the program were Dean Shipman and Tom Jenkins, and winners of the 1949 program were George Jackson and Albert Sautters.

Jay Hartsook, a former Marion County resident now associated with the Cleveland Milk Producers Federation, presented the junior awards to the top producers in a similar program on one-acre tracts of farm land among 50 young people in 4-H and FFA work. He said, "Morrow County's program demonstrates what can be done through cooperative effort." The Green Pastures Program means much to the success of agriculture."

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—(UP)—Northern Pacific, active leader yesterday, featured an irregular advance on the stock market at the opening today.

That stock, whose short interest had a sharp rise in the month ended Nov. 15, opened 2,500 shares at 80¾ up ¾ and a new high, followed by a similar block at the same price. It later extended the opening gain.

American Cyanamid lost a point to stand out on the downside.

Armour & Co. was active after opening on a block of 4,500 shares at 11⅞ up ⅛. It rose slightly after the first sale. Firestone gained nearly a point in the tire section. Lukens Steel continued strong in its section where U.S. Steel had a slight rise and Bethlehem held steady.

Arraignments Set in Crawford Home Case

Four Charged By Grand Jury To Make Pleas Monday

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Nov. 21—Crawford County Commissioner Walter Sargel, his brother, Arthur, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dinkel will be arraigned here next Monday morning to plead to indictments returned against them by the grand jury in connection with alleged irregularities at the County Home.

Judge Ahl set the date for arraignment of the four yesterday after Prosecutor Leo J. Scanlon had filed a bill of particulars in the embezzlement count against the Sargels and Harold Dinkel.

Originally scheduled to plead to the indictments on Nov. 10, the four deferred pleadings and filed motions for quashing or amending the indictments.

Judge Ahl overruled three of the motions and sustained a fourth in which Prosecutor Scanlon ordered to file a bill of particulars on the embezzlement count. In his bill, Scanlon said the state will show that the Sargels and Harold Dinkel embezzled County Home produce valued at $2,956.

Five indictments have been filed against the four defendants. Walter and Arthur Sargel and Harold Dinkel were indicted jointly for embezzlement and grand larceny. Walter Sargel also faces a count of having interest in a public contract while Mrs. Dinkel was indicted on an inmate torture charge. Harold Dinkel also faces a charge of certifying fraudulent bills and an inmate torture count.

The Dinkels were ousted as superintendent and matron at the home last August by county commissioners following a probe into home conditions by Scanlon.

The white bushy tail of the yak is in great demand for various ornamental purposes and in India often is mounted in a silver handle and used as a fly-flapper, called a chowrie.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

My barber has started his Christmas shopping with $5 worth of Christmas seals and if he doesn't buy another thing he knows he will make someone happy with that purchase . . . . possibly himself.

* * *

Tuberculosis is still one of the greatest killers loose in this country and if we can't buy immunity against traffic accidents we can at least land up a fund for our lungs.

* * *

This is the 45th Christmas seal and if it isn't the greatest, in these prosperous times, then the citizenry is entitled to the charge that it has become more commercial than community.

* * *

All I know is that tinsel will sell well this year but it will never replace the old-fashioned innards with which we were born.

* * *

This is an unusual pitch for these paragraphs but there is no souped-up publicity campaign for the TB drive because TB is no longer a dramatic novelty . . . just a killer disease.

Veterans and Draftees Guide

—By—
Major Thomas M. Nial

THIS might look almost too good to be true to young men who want to be pilots in the Air Force when their time comes to serve. The Air National Guard will give 13 months' pilot training to young fellows who qualify and will then send them back to inactive duty with Air Guard squadrons near home.

Since Korea, 54 Air National Guard squadrons have been mobilized. The first ones return next July. Many of their pilots will remain on active duty. Others will be too old to serve longer as pilots, and still others will get out of the Guard for family and business reasons.

The result: The Air National Guard must start training pilots NOW!

They're trained by the regular Air Force in its eight yearly pilot training classes. The requirements generally are the same as those of the regular USAF, but from time to time the regulations change. One requirement, likely to change soon, allows officers to be commissioned by the Guard and sent off for pilot training if they have only a high school education, instead of the two years of college usually required for regular Air Force air cadets.

* * *

BEFORE YOU apply formally you must enlist for a minimum of three years in the Air National Guard. So it might be well to have a rough idea whether you might qualify. Ask the C.O. of a nearby Air Guard unit or, if none is near, from your state Adjutant-General. Get the address of both from the nearest Army and Air Force recruiting office. They can't tell you definitely whether you're accepted until you go through the long screening process.

Depending on your age, experience and qualifications, you will be earmarked either for an outright Air National Guard commission to take pilot training as an officer, or for selection as a regular Air Force aviation cadet. Both officers and cadets trained under this program will go back to National Guard squadrons when they get their wings.

Top age for officers is 27, for cadets 26½. Both must be at least 21 when they finish pilot training. Officers may be married, but cadets must be single. Both must pass a stiff physical exam.

* * *

IF FINALLY selected you'll have to await an opening in a pilot training class. Sometimes the wait is only a month, sometimes much longer.

The draft law allows you a 1-D deferment if you're an officer who has applied for active duty and is awaiting a call. It allows you the same 1-D deferment if you've been accepted for cadet training and are awaiting assignment to a class, but the cadets deferment lasts only four months.

The Air National Guard is trying to work out with Selective Service an agreement that cadets NOT called within those four months won't be drafted. By the time you have to worry about the problem it will probably be straightened out.

A month's indoctrination, six months' basic and six months' advanced make up your 13 months' pilot training. You'll get all the benefits of a serviceman, including medical and dental care, $10,000 free insurance, flight clothing and equipment. Cadets get food and housing direct. Officers get subsistence and quarters allowances.

* * *

MOST AIR GUARD squadrons will be back home by the time you finish. If your squadron is still on active duty, you'll serve it there and return with it when it's demobilized.

In any case, you must agree beforehand to serve as a pilot with your squadron for three years on both active and inactive duty.

As you can well understand, a lot of military plans might change between now and the time you finish pilot training. But the Air Guard gives about as firm an assurance as can be given these days that you'll return home with your squadron.

* * *

(You may write Major Nial care of this newspaper about your own service-connected problem, but please enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope).

ACCUSES ACCUSER. John Carter Vincent (above), U. S. Pamphlets On Atomic Attack Now Available

"Only and informed and prepared public can hope to survive an atomic attack," Dr. N. Siffritt, county health commissioner said today, announcing a list of new civil defense leaflets and films.

"We must fill our minds with techniques of survival," he said. "They must be automatic—second nature. Therefore, we never can read too much, never see too much about civil defense."

Dr. Siffritt recommended a few pamphlets available from the Ohio Department of Health.

One deals with the civil defense program in general. Another tells how physicians can help. A third booklet tells what should be known about the atomic bomb.

Public organizations in Marion County can receive free loan of civil defense films, Dr. Siffritt has been informed by the Ohio Department of Health.

Two films are available which tell how to protect yourself during an atom bomb blast. A first aid movie and one that tells how to fight fires are on the list.

Your Department of Health will help any organization get these films and pamphlets, Dr. Siffritt says.

Submits Low Bid On Crestline Project

The Heffner Construction Co. of Celina was low bidder Tuesday on a highway project calling for improvement of Route 98-N in Crestline and in Richland County, The Associated Press reported.

The firm bid $1,082,948 for the contract, which calls for improving with asphaltic concrete 8.481 miles of the highway in the Crawford County city and in Sandusky and Springfield Townships of Richland County. The highway department estimate of the project cost was $1,123,709.

A Foreign Policy For Americans

By Senator Robert A. Taft

CHAPTER 6

The Russian Menace. How Do We Meet It Throughout the World?

(PART 1)

HOWEVER the Russian menace was created, we face now the problem of the best methods of meeting it and protecting the safety of the American people.

If possible, we wish to find the policies which will deter Russia from military aggression and at the same time will not be so provocative themselves as to give Russia a sound reason for such aggression. We must adopt also policies which, if war unfortunately comes, will best defend America and enable us to achieve ultimate victory.

SENATOR TAFT

But we must be always alert to explore every possibility of permanent peace and all changes in public opinion in Russia or the satellite countries which look in that direction.

For the present our policy may be said to be one of containment, but it certainly carries the hope that we can develop an affirmative policy which will constantly extend the doctrine and the power of liberty.

Vandenberg's Influence

The Administration seems to have accepted this strategy in theory since the days of Secretary Byrnes. I believe that Arthur Vandenberg had most to do with reversing the policies of Teheran, Yalta, and Potsdam. He stiffened the attitude of Secretary Stettinius at San Francisco. He counseled against concessions to Russia in Europe which might have led to a Communist Germany. He and Byrnes forced President Truman to eliminate the pro-Communist Henry Wallace from his cabinet. Senator Vandenberg was never consulted about the Far East, and the change-over in policy there was not made.

My basic criticism of administration policy today is that no one seems to have worked out a comprehensive plan for the application of this strategy or any coordinated use of the many policies necessary to carry it out.

Have we any program, positive or negative, ready for use in Yugoslavia or Iran or Burma or Indo-China?

Furthermore, no one seems to have recognized that there are serious limits to our economic and manpower capacity and that we must be selective and restrained in determining the extent to which we carry out our basic strategy. No one has given the people a long-term plan—for production, for spending and taxation, and for controls—or explained to the people in clear language the reasons and justification for the sacrifices which must be asked for.

Our Limitations

We must realize that there are definite economic and manpower limitations on American strategy.

The people of the United States constitute only six percent of the population of the globe. Our raw materials are certainly not more than a third of the world's resources. Our huge production is still less than one-third of the world's production.

Our people can not, and do not desire to, boss the internal affairs of other countries. They can not send armies to block a Communist advance in every far corner of the world. Consequently, we must consider the cost of the policies we adopt, both in men and money, and we are forced to be selective in determining the relative value and cost of each project.

It is not solely a military problem. For some years the Administration assured us that armed forces of approximately one and a half million men, costing about 13 billion dollars, were sufficient to meet any threat. On July 1, 1951, although there seemed to be no agreed plan, it was suggested that we need 3,500,000 men in uniform, at a cost which may run from 40 to 60 billion dollars a year, or more than four times the annual amount suggested before the Korean war. Yet that war only accounts for about one tenth of what is requested, and the Russian menace is about the same as it was on Jan. 1, 1950.

BARES ATROCITIES. Col. James M. Hanley (above), head of U.S. 8th Army's legal section, caused world stir recently with his sensational revelation that nearly 8,000 U.S. prisoners of war in Korea had been slain by Reds. Hanley, shown at his desk in Pusan, said he divulged the "wanton murder" to let boys at the front know what they are up against.

Plans for More

On July 23, 1951, however, the President suggested in his economic report that 3,500,000 men was only an interim goal, and that plans were being made for a substantially larger expenditure. Secretary Acheson sent word to the Foreign Relations Committee that 25 billion dollars for three years of foreign aid was a serious underestimate. This indicated a federal budget of at least 100 billion dollars a year for fiscal 1953 and fiscal 1954.

No nation can be constantly prepared to undertake a full-scale war at any moment and still hope to maintain any of the other purposes in which people are interested and for which nations are founded.

In the first place, it requires a complete surrender of liberty and the turning over to the central government of power to control in detail the lives of the people and all of their activities.

It would be impossible to conduct any such all-out program without inflation. In World War II, in spite of complete controls, we saw an increase in prices, apparently permanent, of about 70 percent, a depreciation of the dollar to 60 cents.

Finally, it would interfere with the very production which is the great basis of the strength of the United States and to which not only our own people but all of our allies look for ultimate victory if there should be a war with Russia.

Our Choice

The truth is that the most foresighted person could not set up a preparation that would protect us against every conceivable contingency. One or two Pearl Harbors might lay us open to a dangerous attack. We have to choose those measures which will give us the most complete protection within our reasonable economic capacity.

The question which we have to determine, and which apparently nobody in the Administration has really thought through, is the point at which we reach the economic limitation in time of peace on government expenditures and a military program.

After that we must choose between the various measures contributing to our defense, to determine which are of first importance and which can be ignored without serious danger.

The number of men in uniform is the most convenient guide to the total cost of the program, although, of course, there are many other elements. Just after the Korean war the Chiefs of Staff wanted 2,100,000 men. In December 1950 they raised their sights to 2,700,000 men. Within 30 days after that they finally came in with the suggestion of approximately 3,500,000 men in uniform. Now a larger number is suggested.

At the time of writing the President's expenditure budget for fiscal 1952 is still approximately 70 billion dollars, including about 41 billion dollars for the armed forces, plus six and one-quarter billion dollars for arms to foreign countries. But, from various indications, this is not going to be the actual ultimate cost of the program now submitted.

Further Expansion

It is anticipated now that the expenditure budget for fiscal 1953 will be 89 billion and this does not include the further expansion suggested by the President in his Economic Report. Taxes, including those enacted in 1950, are now estimated to yield 60 billion dollars, so that it would take from 25 to 40 billion dollars of additional taxes in order to balance the budget.

If to 89 billion dollars we add about 18 billion dollars for state and local taxes our total tax bill will be 107 billion dollars, or approximately one-third of the gross national production. My own view is that this is more than we can possibly stand without inflation. It would be about 40 percent of the national income, and 40 percent of expenditure and taxes in Great Britain has destroyed private initiative and is socializing the country.

I fully agree with President Truman that we should balance the budget. But we have to balance it by holding down expenses as well as by increasing taxes.

A Limit To Taxes

For there is also a limit to the taxes that can be levied on any uniform basis, without creating injustice and hardship and inflation. If taxes are raised too high they are themselves inflationary, even though the budget is balanced. When the hardship of taxes is too great people succeed in one way or another in passing them on into the price of the goods, which is ultimately paid for by the consumer.

Theoretically, you can fix prices and wages and prevent any such increase, but in practice, even in wartime, we have seen that this can not prevent some inflation, and in time of peace it will be infinitely more difficult to enforce controls of this kind. People are willing to make sacrifices for a temporary period while their boys are fighting at the front, but we saw after World War II that the moment that threat is over people are no longer willing to submit to any general control.

There is another limit to be considered—the number of men who can be drafted into the Army and taken out of productive life. Probably we can maintain our production, even though 3,500,000 men are employed in the armed forces, although I already hear complaints from many farmers who have relied on sons from 18 to 21 to run their farms, to the effect that they will no longer be able to undertake the program of increased agricultural production on their farms.

Longer Service

Reliable estimates have been made by experts on manpower available for the armed forces, which show that we can not keep more than 3,500,000 men in the armed forces without increasing the regular term of service to more than the current two-year term. Such service is already a serious interference with the education of our boys, and the greatest limitation on individual freedom in peacetime the people have ever had imposed on them. Three years' universal service would be still more disruptive and obnoxious to the American people.

One of our main functions in the present situation is to increase the already great production necessary to give the raw materials and the support to the countries of the Atlantic Pact and to other countries throughout the world. We must not weaken ourselves by rampant inflation or shortages of manpower or destroy the morale necessary to keep our people productive even beyond the present figures.

In short, even though the United States has the greatest production in the world, there is a definite limit to what we can do. We can not and should not proceed on the theory that war will begin tomorrow. All-out mobilization can only be undertaken when war is certain.

A Great Waste?

In a speech on Jan. 5, 1951, I suggested that 3,000,000 men in uniform should be about the limit and that perhaps a study of military practices would show that we could get the same results with 3,000,000 men in uniform as are now sought with 3,500,000 men. To a layman there always seems to be a great waste of manpower in the armed services. Is it necessary, for instance, to employ 50,000 men in uniform and 20,000 civilians in order to put a division of 18,000 men in the front line?

We must be reasonable and selective in determining the military projects which we are going to undertake to meet the Russian threat.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1951

But Why Thursday?

IT TAKES only a few minutes with the calendar for the rest of this century to discover that after this year November will have five Thursdays in it only 13 more times. On those occasions, as is being done this year, Thanksgiving will be observed on the fourth Thursday of the month, in line with a congressional resolution adopted in 1941.

By 1941, the furor over Franklin D. Roosevelt's proclamation of 1939, in which he set aside Nov. 23 instead of Nov. 30 for Thanksgiving, had died down. It was conceded that there was logic in keeping Thanksgiving and Christmas as far apart as possible.

There would be even more logic in observing Thanksgiving on Monday, instead of Thursday. The day of the week is incidental. Even the month of the year is of no importance. The first Thanksgiving was celebrated in October, the second in July. Thursday and November were chosen by George Washington in 1789.

If Congress now were to name the fourth Monday in November, instead of the fourth Thursday, there would be another squawk from the traditionalists, but after a few years they wouldn't even remember what they thought they were squawking about.

The Boys Should Have Known

A GENERAL Sessions judge in New York City, Paul S. Streit, has prepared a thorough bill of particulars against commercialism in amateur sports. He apparently believed it was his duty to indict the whole dismal racket while sentencing a few of the athletes who had been caught accepting bribes to help gamblers.

The judge is right. This is one place where prison terms for a few young men won't do society much good, unless society knows the score.

These young men should have known they were in danger of being made the goats for the sins of commercialized collegiate athletics if anything went wrong. They should have known that for every gambler they made happy by making a score turn out one way they would make at least one more gambler unhappy—and that the unhappy gamblers would demand "justice."

They should have known it was wrong to become college students unless they were students in fact. There were so many things they should have known—that the whole rotten mess was about ready to explode; that if it did explode they, not the coaches and not the college officials, would go to prison.

Judge Streit, in the process of sending some of them there, has made it plain that any young man who lacks a well-developed sense of right and wrong should beware of his crooked elders when they are in pursuit of a fast buck. They will stop at nothing.

Vinson's Possibilities

LEAST known of the men who might be presidential candidates next year is Frederick Moore Vinson. This is curious because Mr. Vinson, now Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, has been on the national scene continuously since the early Twenties. Certainly no other potential candidate can make that statement.

He was one of the most powerful of the old-line Democrats who stayed with Franklin D. Roosevelt through thick and thin. He is usually described as one of Harry Truman's closest friends. Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Truman both relied on him for help in getting along with Congress, because his own long service in the House of Representatives as a member from Kentucky made him an expert in that field.

But there is a stronger reason for Mr. Vinson's importance as a possible presidential candidate.

He is the only man in sight who can be classified as a party regular.

He is the counterpart in the Democratic party of Senator Taft in the Republican party—a public figure whose record has been made by debate speeches and votes on all the issues of the times. If Senator Taft is "Mr. Republican," Chief Justice Vinson is "Mr. Democrat."

If political fate were to cast these two men in the role of presidential candidate in 1952 it would signify the end of the trend away from party responsibility. Taft and Vinson would be the exact opposites of the men who have been given presidential nominations for one reason or another since the time of Calvin Coolidge and John W. Davis.

It's reported President Truman has decided to give his administration menage a "sweeping housecleaning." That ought to provide a big boost for the sale of disinfectant.

Two heads may be better than one but not those of the morning after variety.

Vishinsky's expression of typically mirthless Soviet wit in which he said he had been unable to sleep because he couldn't stop laughing over the Western Allies' proposal for disarmament indicates that the day may come when it will be necessary to give him cause for a more serious attack of insomnia.

Taxes Reached Limit?

By David Lawrence

Say Truman Will Ask Boost but Won't Get It

WASHINGTON

THE taxpayers of the nation can rest assured that they will not have any further increase in rates imposed upon them by Congress during 1952. This can be derived from a canvass of all the important authorities here who have anything to do with tax legislation.

Foremost among these, of course, are the chairmen of the House ways and means committee and the Senate finance committee, but it is a fact that the Treasury Department itself does not expect any further legislation to increase taxes.

LAWRENCE

In referring to objectives of new legislation, the phrase that now is used is "to improve" the tax structure. This means changes and revisions in the administrative sections of the law, and very often these adjustments result in increased revenue.

When it is stated flatly that the Treasury does not expect any more increases in tax rates, this is not to say that there will be no recommendations along that line. To keep the record straight, the President will ask for higher taxes. But Congress will pigeonhole the request because there is a virtually unanimous feeling in both political parties in Congress that the present tax rates have about reached the saturation point. Also, because Congress didn't enact the latest law with its rate changes to take effect for the full calendar year 1951, it is necessary to observe the operation of the new rates on the full calendar year of 1952 before making any further recommendations.

* * *

IT COULD BE that, with the armament boom, the 1952 tax collections will be higher than has been estimated, and hence the margin between receipts and expenditures may be narrower than has heretofore been believed would be the case.

There is a school of thought on taxation, incidentally, which believes that the way to increase total receipts is to reduce rather than increase taxes in boom times. This theory holds that business improves when tax laws furnish less impediment and that many transactions which are held up because of high taxes would be consummated if lower rates prevailed. Thus any upward rise in capital-gains taxes has always been regarded as one way to freeze real estate transactions and cause prices to soar in order to leave a reasonable net for the seller after paying capital-gains taxes. To reduce capital-gains taxes is to stimulate business volume.

* * *

THE GENERAL FEELING in Congress against passing any further tax laws with higher rates happens to coincide with the fact that 1952 is a year in which a President and a new Congress are to be elected. The issue of high taxes will be discussed widely on the stump and nothing would contribute more to the nation-wide discontent than another tax bill superimposed on the present one, which has hardly been digested.

Even Marriner S. Eccles, former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who has always advocated higher and higher taxes when needed to balance budgets, is quoted now as opposed to any rise in the tax rates. In his speech in New York he declared that the tax system has been strained to the limit" and "if it is expanded any further, that will be the ruination of incentive."

It will be interesting to see whether the labor union leaders will accept this approach or insist on higher taxes. If the labor union group argues for higher taxes, it probably will be the only one that does take that view.

* * *

BUT IF TAX RATES aren't increased and the federal budget faces a big deficit, what will the government do? It cannot go on spending indefinitely with higher and higher deficits. The only course it can follow will be to reduce expenses. Representative Reed of New York, ranking Republican member of the House ways and means committee, predicts that Congress at its next session will be more economy-minded than it has been in recent years. Apparently the day of decision on national policy as against further increases in tax rates and against mounting expenditures is not far away.

Waste No Pity

By TRUMAN TWILL

THERE has been a lot of fuss—and properly so—about a 26-year-old New Mexican who has just come down out of the hills to join the army. This young man had been deprived of all the assumed blessings. He never had seen an automobile, a traffic accident, a school, or a photogenic woman.

He had been raised from infancy by his father and another old prospector in a primative cabin at the far end of nowhere. He had missed everything in the list of civilization's advantages, except the printed word. Between what his father had taught him and what he had read in the books his father owned, the young man was able to knock off a grade of 93 in the army qualification test which lets recruits through with a minimum grade of 10.

If the old man hadn't died, leaving the son alone in a cabin up in the hills, he would still be there. All he knew about joining the army was what he had read in old books. He knew nothing about World War II, the prospect of World War III or the draft. He wasn't jittery about nuclear fission or subversive ideas.

He never had heard of occupational ulcers, Great Britain's shrinking treasury balance, the difficulties of oiling up the Iranians, or the ingratitude of the reckless Egyptians. The poor fellow never had been admonished to guzzle beer by a gawk-box barker, puzzled by a political spiel, or introduced to the intricacies of the long form for making out a federal income tax.

He was blissfully unaware of the tense controversy over what degree of nakedness the federal government should permit in the case of electronic shadows of females projected into living rooms. He never had heard of government by crony, the possibility that Hitlerism might happen in other countries besides Germany, or parasitism in Washington.

All he knew was about the stars overhead, the earth beneath, the soft wind of summer and the harsh wind of winter. This boy was strictly a square. He never had sucked a marijuana cigaret, felt sorry for himself because he had to have his tonsils removed, risked his neck in a hot rod, or made calf's eyes at a girl.

The underprivileged clunk knew nothing about the latest thing in clothes, the fascination of taking dope for a thrill, how to cavort on a dance floor, or how to curse out people who argued that because chickens came from eggs, therefore all eggs have chickens in them, and must be broken by all people who prefer ducks.

He never had been exposed to progressive education, psychology, the credo that "they can't do this to me," or fool fads. He had missed the joy of shaving his face every 24 hours, going to school five days a week, taking piano lessons and brushing his teeth.

The idea is getting around among beneficiaries of civilization that this 26-year-old square who meandered out of the New Mexico hills did not know when he was well off and will be taking to the hills again as soon as his enlistment runs out. With that 93-grade intelligence working on his side, he shouldn't need more than a year to discover that civilization, itself, is on the verge of taking to the hills.

Dictators Must Suppress Information

From an Address by Dr. Gainza Pas

This is an adaptation of an address by Dr. Gainza Paz at Northwestern University on the occasion of his being awarded the degree of doctor of journalism. Dr. Paz, editor of the great Argentine paper La Prensa, which was suppressed and then taken over by the Peron dictatorship in Argentina, considers his Northwestern address to have been his major statement on the perils awaiting newspapers at the hands of political despots.

EVER since its creation, the press has been an irreconcilable enemy of absolute governments, and an unconditional ally of freedom. For five centuries, the type of the printer, and the voices of liberty, are the words and music of a universal, eternal hymn.

The year of our Argentine revolution, 1810, the newspaper Carreo De Comercio, edited in Buenos Aires by our great patriot Manuel Belgrano, expressed a clear and simple thought which some governments even today would attempt to deny:

"Freedom of the press is nothing but the faculty of writing and publishing what every citizen thinks and can utter with his tongue. The use of such a faculty is as proper as it is to think and speak; to oppress it is as unjust as it would be to bind the senses, the tongues, the hands and feet of all citizens."

From late in the 19th century until World War I, freedom of the press enjoyed ever greater respect. Then it came to be taken for granted in the more progressive countries, and the struggle for that freedom ceased to be a live, burning, universal issue.

Soon totalitarian regimes—Fascism, Nazism, Communism—revived the old feudal concepts. They were: obey orders blindly and do not argue; there is no truth other than what the absolute monarch or the despotic government propounds; government is the state and the state is the nation; those who are not with the government are against the nation; those who fail to applaud the government are traitors to their country.

After World War I, absolute and unanswerable government was reborn. In its arrogant path it found a highly advanced journalism, firmly established in the confidence of peoples and enjoying vast circulations. Independent journalism had kept up with the extraordinary progress of the late 19th century. But it could not coexist with reactionary government.

* * *

A FREE PRESS and a totalitarian state are irreconcilable. The clash was fated, inevitable The new regimes immediately realized that one or the other must succumb. The dictators issued their command—death to a free press. Newspapers either submitted, sold out, closed or were crushed. Radio broadcasting, then in its infancy, had the same fate.

Freedom of thought is the primordial freedom. It finds its best means of expression in an unfettered press, which is also the strongest guardian of the other freedoms. Freedom of the press is the heritage of the people. Newspapermen often defend it, just as soldiers often defend liberty; but in both cases, liberty belongs to mankind.

In the last century, strong governments neither loved nor respected the press. They scorned it, and felt it was better done away with. But now a totalitarian government does not suppress the printing press, but reduces it to a single voice.

Dictatorship wants a kept press, much as it wants a political party and popular assemblies—but only as an expression of a single thought. Totalitarians want to force thoughts, consciences, words and type into one channel.

Thus, live pages of information and comment, when stifled by rulers who will not tolerate or recognize differing opinion, languish and die; those pages no longer belong to journalism.

They are still called journalism by their masters, who also have parliaments without opposition, elections without choice, propaganda without reply and demagoguery without limit. This conglomeration is presented as a progressive example of duly elected, representative government.

When Il Duce and Der Fuehrer postured and ranted before deceived multitudes, they also decided that all publications should follow the same pattern of unanimity evident in those repetitious and disciplined assemblies. All newspaper pages had to be reduced to the common denominator of servility. And tyranny enveloped Italy and Germany; darkness descended on their peoples.

Totalitarian hatred is directed not only against opinion but even more against information. That is against news. This second aspect of the absolute incompatibility between a free press and a dictatorship is somewhat recent, because the news era is relatively modern.

In the distant past, periodicals were more journals of opinion than of information. Industrial progress made possible a broad dissemination of news through daily papers. At the same time, great advances in communications brought an enormous increase in the radius and scope of news, which went from mail service to telegraph and cable, later to radio, and now to television.

* * *

AMERICAN journalism, with its emphasis on news, was especially influential in transforming the newspaper all over the world. America realized and proved, long before Europe did, that the circulation of a newspaper could be multiplied by providing more and better information. By now, news has become of such public value that today, in international assemblies, the term "freedom of information" is employed more often than "freedom of the press" as meaning unhampered expresson of opinion.

Dictatorships place the highest value on news, and they also know that it is most difficult to control. There is hardly a news item that might not possibly affect the prestige and policy of the totalitarian regime which seeks to control all activities. So there is hardly a news item that it might not be advantageous to direct, distort, or suppress.

That type of government will not accept, cannot accept, free reporting—either within the country, coming into it or going out of it. Press ministries or secretariats — typically totalitarian—prepare and release propaganda, but their principal function is to control news.

On matters of general interest, people form their own judgment, either agreeing or disagreeing with the opinions of newspapers. The basic element for judging anything is always news—information. A widely and freely informed people can judge a bad government, even though no criticism may be evident in the editorial column of newspapers.

But a people lacking free information, and getting their news distorted, mutilated, directed and censored, are blind—destined to suffer all manner of indignities and tragedies. The Germans, Italians and Spaniards all lost free access to news at the same time they lost their freedom. The same thing is happening in the Americas today.

Totalitarians quite understandably try to discredit the opinions of independent newspapers as coming from "slaves of foreign interests," "bought by foreign gold," "traitors to their country."

Congress Quiz

Q—How much tax does the President have to pay?

A—Out of his yearly salary of $100,000 in 1952 he must pay about $57,000 back to the government, under the new tax rates effective No. 1. That's 57 percent of his income and leaves him about $43,000 to take home. But the President also gets a $50,000-a-year tax-free expense account; this will cease to be tax-free starting January, 1953.

* * *

Q—Will it cost more to send a letter when the new postal rates go into effect?

A—No. Letter and airmail postage stay the same. But the law signed Oct. 30 hikes the cost of a "penny postal" to 2 cents, starting Jan. 1. It also increase second and third class mail rates.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

United Nations Whodunit

THE United Nations has had 3,548 pieces of silverware and many other things stolen from its cafeteria and elsewhere for a loss of $645,000. Yogurt glasses have been stolen at the rate of 75 a week, it is announced. In a single month 1,000 bottles were not returned. Omigosh! Here is a world organization trying to prevent nations from disappearing, and it can't protect its own dishware! There is something especially disturbing about it. The United Nations standing for honesty, law, good behavior and world decency while people in its own home are making off with plates, knives, forks, spoons and glasses!

PHILLIPS

Who is swiping the dishes? Isn't U.N. having trouble enough without being compelled to throw a special watch around the house furnishings and kitchen equipment? Visitors get some of the loot and so do employes, but both are checked with considerable care. They can't get it all. Can it be that there are delegates who need watching? Is it possible that a diplomat who makes a fiery speech denouncing some nation for lawlessness hooks a hunk of choice china on the way out? Does a committeeman after submitting a report on global looting snitch a fingerbowl in departing from the joint? And that item of 1,00 unreturned bottles . . . what about that? The average man is careless about such things and may never bring one back, but is similar forgetfulness pardonable in a gent capable of handling the much greater matter of returning Poland to the Poles?

* * *

The situation calls for action. Let us have a special U.N. Committee For Considering the Disappearing Saucers, Checking on the Lost Goblets, and Reporting on the Unreturned Pop Bottles. There may be some difficulty getting the item "Swiped Dishes" on the agenda. Nevertheless the world must be made safe for eating utensils and the waiter who lets you take the bottle without the nickel deposit. Russia may, of course, put up the usual battle, arguing that Wall Street grabbed off the lost crockery. Mr. Malik may even charge he has photographs of Foster Dulles going home with a salad dish marked "Stolen From U.N."

* * *

This is a grave issue. Will U.N. get to the bottom of it or must it go in for paper plates and cups? Must it put an iron chain on the sugar bowl? Is any catsup bottle safe without a guard? And did the free world or the slave world take "them salt cellars"?

"Will swap valve trombone, B-flat fife, metronome, battery booster, car heater and ice skates for recent edition of Britannica, male singing finches, parrot, electric handsaw or male collie. N524 RI."—Yankee Magazine. Aw come on, mister, you can't be that uncertain of where your future lies.

Ima Dodo found "Quo Vadis" such a big spectacle she couldn't enjoy the buttered popcorn in the standard-size bag. . . . We hear Harry Truman has expressed a desire to get back to Washington where the barracuda are just as numerous but respect a man's bathing hours. . . . The fellow who called it the "United" nations was a poor judge of adhesions. . . . Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

I was sheepishly conscious of imitating a "private eye" in a "who-dun-it," as I hurried Bess Conway into the taxi which Adams had procured for us. But I felt relieved, nevertheless, when the driver did not give a glance at Bess or Mildred, evidently recognizing that I, as the older woman, speaking to him, would be responsible for his payment.

"Drive us to Fifth Avenue and Forty-Seventh Street, please," I told him. "We will decide by then which shop we wish to visit first."

"Okay," the driver said, as Adams closed the car door. Then he started off down the street, and I waited until the traffic became heavy and attention-absorbing before confessing my peccadillo to th egirls.

"I haven't the slightest idea where we're going," I told them, lowering my voice to a murmur, "I'm afraid, Bess, that I wasn't paying very strict attention when you talked of the shops."

"I'm not sure that I mentioned any names," Bess Conway replied in equally muted tones. "But I'd like to go first to Helmer's"—she gave me the street and number. "We'll get the gowns and evening coats out of the way first."

"I'll remember that name and address and be ready for the driver when he reaches the corner I named," I told her, and her face, which had been unusually grave since she had glimpsed the man whose recognition she feared, broke into one of her enchanting smiles.

"Your father has told me," she said, "that your memory is something phenomenal, so I am sure the driver will be properly directed."

"I am afraid my sire could be dubbed a fatuous parent," I told her, and she nodded.

"An understatement if I ever heard one," she said, with another dimpling smile. Then she switched to another conversational track with quick aplomb.

"I suppose we ought to discuss our color scheme," she said. "As we're all to be at the same table, we mustn't have any clashing tints."

"That, of course," I told her promptly, "and equally, of course, I shall try to choose some color which will be a background for the brighter tints which you girls will select."

"Indeed, you will do no such thing," she said indignantly, and Mildred Grey joined in her protest."

"You're the one who should have the most striking gown," she said.

"Right you are," Bess commended. "Unless—don't tell me you're one of the women who prefer black to any other color for evening wear. Oh, I agree it can be most stunning, and with your coloring and your hair you'd look wonderful in it, but—"

"I'm afraid you're a woeful flatterer," I told her, "but you needn't waste any time worrying. I already have a black velvet dinner gown, and I certainly wouldn't waste this wonderful opportunity to choose something else. But you girls must make your choices first."

"Noth-ing do-ing!" Bess said mutinously. "The chaperone must strike the key note. We won't budge from that decision, will we, Mildred?"

"Indeed no!" Bill's fiancee said with emphasis. "Please tell us what color you'd like."

"I'll compromise," I told them, smiling. "Let's see the gowns this shop is displaying. Then we'll all be able to make a choice."

Bess Conway chuckled gleefully.

"If I know Helmer's," she said, "we'll all be so dazzled it will be almost impossible to choose one gown over the rest."

THANKS FOR THE TREES

You who pass by, listen to the prayer of the woods! We gave you the beam that supports your house and the door that guards your home and the roof that shelters you from storm. We gave you the board of your table and the bed on which you lie. From us you have received the heat of your hearth on long winter nights, and the friendly shade screening you from summer sun, the flame that prepares your meat and bakes your brick.

We prevent the raging flood and temper the violent wind and offer refuge to the little wild things of the world. You have taken our fruits to satisfy your hunger and to quench your thirst and thus have taken our endurance unto yourself.

Our music is in the song of your pipe and in the whisper of your lute. Our substance forms the altar at which you kneel in worship.

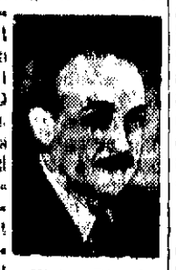
Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

HEARD ON THIS BEAT:

AND now the Good Earth runs as red as the politics about it. No words impart the vastness of its torture. Murder. Atrocities. Which American—off a commuters' train, in a skyscraper office or trundling a basket down a supermarket aisle — can envision what mass killings are? Yet it must be reported that authenticated lists of those executed in 27 provinces of Sovietized China reveal the figure of 16,872,000 anti-Communist Chinese human beings purged by order of Mao Tse-tung. Among them were 6,000 labor leaders. Just about the number who lead national AFL and CIO unions here. These figures were documented by the underground in constant contact with labor leaders throughout the world . . .



Victor Riesel

The final figure will run much higher, since these tabulations extend only to June 15 . . .

WITH CHRISTMAS and New Year's reaching us on Tuesdays this grim year, the government's wage control board has just ruled that employers may give their people the Mondays off, making it a four-day holiday, without asking Federal permission. Days off are considered "fringe" benefits the rest of the year and must be approved by Washington.

If you work for a living, this is how the government has been permitting your wages to go up "since Korea," and here's how it will, in effect, go through its own ceilings early next year. After the first guns went off, the Wage Stabilization Board ruled that pay could go up 10 percent. Then it decided that the increased prices should be met with a cost of living formula which jacked the percentage to 18. Then came a flat approving raises to adjust "inequities."

Now the board will okay indirect higher wages through increased employer payments for better welfare, health, insurance and pension schemes. A little later the board will say that wages can go up because we are producing faster (increased productivity).

Finally, since all this still doesn't meet Phil Murray's Steelworkers' demands for its 1,000,000 followers, the board will say that the old cost of living formula is outmoded since it only permits the working guy to catch up with prices.

So, the new system will be to anticipate cost-of-living skyrocketing by giving wage increases in advance of higher prices. And, incidentally, as revealed here weeks ago, Phil Murray is very serious in his demand for a guaranteed yearly wage. Where such contracts have been signed by other unions, the company agrees to pay for, say, 2,000 hours a year whether or not there's work. . . .

OF ALL THE Republican candidates for the presidential nomination, Gov. Earl Warren has the most personal friends among national labor leaders.

Meanwhile, Mr. Truman's labor supporters have told the President that he still runs far ahead of all others inside labor. Among those who pledged him support, during a personal conversation, was one of the most labor-Democrats in the country, husky Joe Keenan. He went to the White House two days after Dick Gray, head of the 3,000,000-member AFL Building Trades Department, urged labor to vote GOP in '52.

There, Keenan told the President that Mr. Gray is a Republican and was expressing only a personal opinion to which he was certainly "entitled in the democratic framework of the AFL." But, predicted Keenan, the bulk of labor would back Truman. There apparently is little doubt now in union circles that Mr. Truman will campaign for re-election.

* * *

IF THERE ARE those who fight the 'theory of an impartial umpire for all inner union conflicts, let them know of the suffering of the waterfront workers during their recent strike and revolt against their leader, Joe Ryan. Best estimates now reveal that these hardly opulent workers lost some $6,875,000 in wages in 25 days, while the Teamsters, idled by the picketing, lost about $1,000,000. This, of course, must be added to the profits lost by business, which simply can't be estimated for weeks to come. . . .

With waterfront troubles taking a holiday here, a general dockside strike may cripple Puerto Rico. There, the AFL International Longshoremen have unionized radio actors who are striking the studios. To back them up, the Longshoremen threaten to cut the island off from all but air transport. . . .

* * *

THE CIO'S POLITICAL Action Committee is bidding for support of the elderly millions who follow Dr. Townsend, who himself is seeking support of the AFL and CIO for a big old-age pension plan drive. Among those contacted were Dick Gosser, a CIO Auto Union vice president. . . .

The American Communist party's Politburo has been meeting under the leadership of the aging and ailing William Z. Foster. They're eager to launch that labor federation of theirs and have just about decided to go ahead since John Lewis seems to be scorning their bait . . . Lewis will make another major speech next Feb. 17 in Flint, Mich. Of late, he's been traveling about the country alone in his automobile again. . . .

* * *

WATCH FOR A revival of labor's civil war. The AFL, angered by Phil Murray's telling its leaders "to go to hell," will charge that "the CIO is terrified of labor peace," and that the AFL's bid for unity was received with panic.

* * *

LABOR LEADERS friendly to the U.S. are sending squads into French streets to tear down Communist posters which picture, side by side, President Truman, described as "a warmonger," and Marshal Stalin, called the man of Peace. Stalin is the one in a soldier's uniform.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Common Cold Still With Us

There is still no cure for the common cold. The new antihistamic drugs have relieved symptoms in some cases, but many of the over-enthusiastic claims in favor of these drugs as a "cure-all" have been disproved.

By now, most people know the common cold is due to a virus infection. Persons most easily infected are usually those with lowered body resistance. Factors which may decrease resistance include general debility, enlarged tonsils and adenoids, areas of chronic infection in the body, and allergies. Another factor is injury to the membranes of the nose from inhaling irritating and inflammatory fumes. And then there is always the matter of susceptibility to colds.

A cold usually starts abruptly. The first sign may be a feeling of tiredness, or perhaps sneezing, a nasal discharge, or a scratchy irritation in the throat. The person may not have a fever at any time if the cold remains uncomplicated. However, many have a chilling sensation or a definite chill, followed by fever.

Headache is very common, and there may be vague pains in the back and arms. The nose and throat often feel stopped-up, and the eyes burn and smart. These conditions may impair the sense of taste and smell, leading to a loss of appetite.

Repeated nose-blowing and the profuse nasal flow often cause a redness and soreness of the upper lip and nose. As the disease progresses the watery discharge becomes thicker and more mucous is formed. Very common is a hacking cough, which is usually worse at night and may even interfere with sleep.

A sure way to prevent colds would be just as desirable as a sure way to cure them. Many preventive measures have been recommended, including vaccines, but so far none as a rule seems to have been successful. Some people believe large doses of vitamin C during the cold season may be helpful. Others think large doses of mixed vitamins are of value, and they may be, but, as yet, definite proof is lacking as to their value in this condition.

The sufferer from a cold should go to bed and get ample rest as soon as he feels the first signs. Adequate rest is often the single factor contributing to rapid recovery. If severe, it may also be a good idea to relieve symptoms if possible with nose drops, steam inhalations, and discomfort-relieving drugs. The diet should be light, with adequate supplies of the vitamins and minerals found in fruits, vegetables, butter, and eggs.

Korean's Thanks

By Hal Boyle

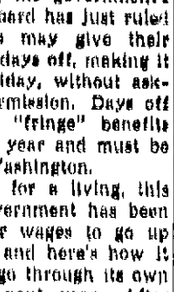
NEW YORK

A THANKSGIVING prayer by a Korean:

O Lord of our household, we thank thee for the ripe persimmon, the golden gourd, the rice that has ripened in the paddies.

We thank thee for the daughter that is here, the son that is still among us. We pray thy help for the sons who are away.

On this way of bounty we also pray thy blessing upon the quaint stranger among us—the American, and his friends. They surely follow their duty.



Hal Boyle

Dear Lord, it is hard to be a Korean in these days. There is the question of how we should turn. And no matter how we turn there is trouble.

We are, O Lord, as Thou knowest, an humble farm folk. Our days are measured by the turning sun. The best reward we can hope for is good weather. When the grain ripens, we ripen. When the rice tumbles under storm, we falter.

Our hopes rise or fall with the growth in the fields. Such are we. No people to rise up and boldly change any other people's history—but one who has always been ready to rise to defend our own.

* * *

THE RUSSIANS and their Chinese friends come down from the north to tell a Korean what a Korean should be. And from the south the stubborn Americans and their allies say what a Korean should also be.

It is all so confusing, bloody, and temporary. In this tangled international responsibility the average Korean would like to take time off, look at himself in the mirror—and see what he would like a Korean to be.

O Lord, our people is divided. We are unique in history. We are caught in a civil war—a war this side and that side of the 38th Parallel. And we are also become an international testing ground of the weapons of outsiders.

But a people and a land must choose, O Lord. And on this day of Thanksgiving, it is the mouth of South Korea that speaks thy praise here. .

Our faults are sores in thy divine eyes. Our virtues are as snows before thy suns. They melt, and they are humble.

* * *

YET, O LORD, Korea must be our own Korea again. It was our fair land of morning calm for so long. It must be our fair land of morning again.

There was a time before the foreigners first came when a Korean, dying, was buried huddled in a hill slope that looked across a greening paddy and a flowing stream to another hill beyond.

It was all Korea then. And that is the way it must be again. A Korean must have a place to die in—and to live in—that he can call his own.

He must, O Lord, have a land he can call—his chosen.

Thought In Common

By Inez Robb

WILD OAT FARM,
FLEMINGTON, N. J.

MR. BIB STANLEY, the dairy farmer across the way, knocked on the back door as I was putting the stale bread to places for the turkey stuffing.

I automatically took the coffee pot off the back of the stove and poured two cups. He picked the cup up and then set it down.

"Well," he said finally, "I came here to ask you a question and I want an honest answer: You got anything to be thankful for tomorrow?"

Inez Robb

"Why, Mr. Stanley," I said in amazement. "Of course I've got things to be thankful for."

"Yes, but what? Be specific," he insisted. "If you was saying the grace tomorrow, what would you thank the good Lord for?"

"Well, if I was saying the grace tomorrow," I said a little hesitantly, "I think the first thing I would thank him for would be the prospect, after so long, for an armistice in Korea. Yes, that's the first thing I'd say."

"That's what I told mother, Emma, that is," Mr. Stanley said. "I told Emma I was going to start off grace tomorrow by thanking God that maybe the fighting was going to end in Korea before Christmas.

* * *

"BUT THEN I WAS KIND OF puzzled about what to say next. Do you think it is fair on Thanksgiving Day, the one day you ought to thank the Lord for his kindness and the earth's bounty, to slip in a request for something, just like on Sundays?" Mr. Stanley asked.

"Yes," I said. "Yes, I think he understands everything."

"I don't know," said Mr. Stanley uncertainly. "Right after I thank God for maybe a real chance for peace, I was thinking of asking him to make the Chinese play fair this time and do what's right and cut out the double-talk.

"But Emma said 'Papa, I don't know if it's right to ask the Lord to try to do something with the Communists, who've been rejecting him and scandalizing his name for years. Maybe tomorrow you had just better thank him and hope for the best.'

"'Why, Emma, I said,' 'Don't you believe that he who keeps his eye upon the sparrow also keeps 'em peeled on the Communists?' and Emma said 'Of course, I do, Bib, only I hate to trouble him about them on Thanksgiving. Seems like for one day, he ought to have a respite from 'em.'

"What do you think?" Mr. Stanley asked me.

* * *

I FILLED UP THE COFFEE cups and thought a bit.

"In ordinary times, I'd favor Emma's idea," I said. "I'd just thank him on Thanksgiving Day and not ask for anything. But these aren't ordinary times.

"If I was head of the house and asking the grace tomorrow," I said, "I'd ask him to help us to get an armistice and make it stick. After, of course, thanking him for what looks like a real hopeful sign that we're going to get one."

We sat on a while in silence and drank our coffee.

"And then I thought I'd only say one more thing," Mr Stanley said. "You ever hear a popular song on the radio with a refrain that says 'I got the sun in the morning and the moon at night'?"

I nodded.

"Well, sir, the first time I heard that song," continued Mr. Stanley, "I thought right away how wonderful it is to have the sun in the morning and the moon at night. The more I think about it, the more I know it is.

"Do you think the Lord would be offended if I just wound up by thanking him for the sun in the morning and the moon at night, even if I got the idea from a popular song?"

"Goodness, no!" I said. "I think he might be real pleased to have some one notice the sun in the morning and the moon at night and thank him for those splendors most of us take for granted."

"You women—you all think alike," said Mr. Stanley with a sigh of satisfaction. "That's just what Emma said."
